An Astemo Group Company

seneos supports OEMs and suppliers with embedded software development, testing, requirements management, AUTOSAR, and functional safety.

From requirements engineering to test execution, seneos is your engineering partner for robust embedded solutions in automotive and other industries.

In software development, success depends on how well software, architecture, and testing work together. seneos helps teams reduce complexity, improve traceability, and build embedded solutions that are ready for real-world validation.

- Rapid problem analysis and support in your projects.
- Scalable team size with in-depth expertise.
- Access to our extensive expertise in areas such as AUTOSAR, Functional Safety, Aspice and experience in testing, validation and project management.
